ABOUT

Art director and product designer with 20 years across broadcast, advertising, web, and product. I built a hand-drawn apparel brand to $3.8M in sales and designed the fulfillment software behind it. Now I design and build Doomsy, an iOS app for directing AI films. I take work from the first idea to the shipped thing.

EXPERIENCE

2020 - Present

Takeout Order Founder · Creative & Product Lead

- Built the brand end to end, from identity and voice to a hand-drawn catalog, and grew it to $3.8M in lifetime sales.
- Wrote and art-directed campaigns across paid social, web, email, and packaging. New concepts were the main growth lever, so I tested them constantly.
- Designed and shipped the fulfillment portal operators use daily: Shopify ingest, labels, and an order state machine.
- Directed hundreds of shoots, live-action and AI-generated, with a repeatable system for on-brand video and imagery.

2026 - Present

Doomsy Founder · Product Design & Creative Direction

- Designing and building an iOS app for directing short AI films: previs, cast, scenes, takes, voices, music, and a phone-sized editor.
- Modeled it on a real production. Ask, the built-in assistant, can fill in any step, but the director still presses Generate.
- Rebuilt it from an on-brand content feed for brands once image models made that easy for everyone.

2013 - 2019

DJcity Creative Director

- Ran brand, campaign, and product creative for a DJ music platform for six years, building the creative function in-house.
- Directed the DJcity TV on-air identity and worked daily with engineering to ship product surfaces.

2010 - 2013

Ciplex Creative Director

- Designed and art-directed web experiences for ArcLight Cinemas and Grauman's Chinese Theatre, plus brand and campaign work for small businesses.
